Vecinos Unidos DFW is hosting in person orientations for community members who want to show up at Dallas immigration court in support and solidarity with our immigrant neighbors.

In this orientation, we'll:

- Share what the courthouse environment looks like right now.
- Talk through the different roles volunteers may choose to take on.
- Provide practical tips for showing up effectively and safely.
- Connect you with trusted resources, including the ABA Court Observation curriculum and our Court Complaint Guide.
- Share other ways you can get involved to support our immigrant communities

We do not assign roles or shifts — volunteers choose for themselves what role they want to take on each time they show up, based on their comfort level and risk assessment.

Immigration Court is at the Earle Cabell Federal Building in downtown Dallas:

1100 Commerce St., Dallas 75242

Opportunities to volunteer are Monday through Friday; “mornings” are 7:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.; “afternoons” are 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
